To whom it may concern,

This is a letter of support for Nathan Foote to attend the Bioneers conference 15th to 19th October 2008. Nathan will be attending; Seed Saving, Indigenous Peoples Food Sovereignty, Biomimicry, Water and Ocean systems—all of which have synergistic connections to Ecology Action's GROW BIOINTENSIVE method used in over 140 countries around the world in virtually all climates and soils where food is grown.

Nathan will also spend 5 days afterwards to work and expand his knowledge base with Ecology Action. GROW BIOINTENSIVE is a well developed system and new approaches and teaching practices have been developed since he participated in our workshop. Previously he took a 3-Day Introductory Workshop from Ecology Action.

Nathan takes good initiatives and is dedicated to his work. He has been the catalyst for a television program in New Zealand called, Kiwi Maara. His own segment was an introduction of the Biointensive method. In this way he took the creative approach to reach a wider audience.

The experiences at Bioneers and Ecology Action will greatly benefit those he is teaching in his Biointensive courses in New Zealand in the future.

I enthusiastically endorse Nathan's Bioneers application!

Sincerely,

John Jeavons
